

6516207726.txt

I do NOT believe there should be limitations on what satellite radio can offer to the public. As individuals we pay for these services and it should be up to us to change the dial or not tune in to specific programming content. Legislation should NOT decide what is acceptable programming when I as an individual have decided to pay for the services. Limiting the services that these companies can provide is indirectly limiting the quality of the programming am I paying for. I would expect a company to provide the best possible product to the public and not have legislation that would hinder any such developments.